

AGE RESTRICTION GERMANY FOR EVENTS & CONCERTS

We recommend not bringing young children to concerts as members of the audience.

The participation of young people at concerts is governed by human rights laws, which take into account the Youth Protection Act. According to the Civil Code in Germany (BGB) the parents have the duty and the right to care for the minor (under 18 years).

The venues and the organizer reserve the right to refuse access to children under the age of 14, depending on the event.

Youth Protection – At which age am I able to attend a concert?

For attendees under the age of 18, concerts may only be visited under the following rules:

Children under 6 years of age are not allowed to enter the event, even if accompanied by an adult.

6- to 15-year-olds can attend a concert ONLY accompanied by a person of full age (18+). This may be a parent or legal guardian or custodian. For this purpose, a child must hold a permission form signed by the legal custodian.

Please note that both the person to be supervised and the accompanying adult must submit a photo ID (identity card or health card). Unaccompanied 16- and 17-year-olds are allowed to visit a concert until midnight, but only upon presentation of a photo ID (personal identity card or health card). Student IDs are not valid here!
